Requires a Palm-size PC, Windows CE Services 2.1 or later and Internet Explorer 4.0 or later. For H/PC or H/PC Pro users, you can download the Mobile Channel Viewer from Microsoft.

The Mobile Channel Wizard from Microsoft allows you to take any webpage (including graphics) with you as a mobile channel. It can also be configured to automatically update the channel information from the web with appropriate scheduling tools. It is compatible with the H/PC, H/PC Pro and the P/PC.

Java Servlets for WindowsCE Channels allow you to create custom channels with CGI parameters, pictures, and allow you to clip specific HTML tags.

  Create a Channel for ANY webpage courtesy of Jason C. Patterson! This does not support graphics in the web pages.

Troubleshooting Tips

1. If you are using dialup, you'll need to use Favorites - Update Subscription to get the latest channel information on your desktop. For systems connected to the internet full time, don't forget to check the schedule on your PC (Favorites - Manage Subscriptions then View - Custom Schedules). Also, your PC has to be on at the scheduled time for the subscription information to be pulled from the internet.

2. If you are having problems with a channel, you may need to unsubscribe and then resubscribe to resolve the problem.

3. Don't forget to watch the amount of storage that mobile channels are using on your Palm-size PC. The default is 50% of available storage. To change the amount of storage launch the Channels application, select View Options to adjust the percentage of the storage for as Mobile Channels.

4. In Mobile Devices go to Tools / Active Sync Options

5. To confirm that all channels are set to be synchronized check your Mobile Device settings on your desktop. Only the channels you have selected here will be synchronized. This can be done via Tools - ActiveSync Options. Make sure that the channels you want to synchronize with are selected.

6. Mobile Channel Desktop components are only visible when the desktop is displayed.
